VISTA HERMOSA

Taking the city's oldest elevator to the lofty heights of Vista Hermosa, one gains one of the finest views of the city. This is complemented by an extensive and diverse menu with influences from Mexico, Italy and Japan, all reinterpreted to incorporate the flavors of Ecuador.

ZAZU

One of Quito's best fine-dining establishments, Zazu is the creation of culinary mastermind, Wilson Alpala. For Alpala, food transcends the senses, and Zazu brings rare and beautiful regional and international ingredients together in a composition of texture, flavor and harmony.

LA GLORIA

Uniting the fruits of sea and soil, La Gloria is a celebration of the feast of life. Andean produce combines with fresh seafood and fine 'carnes' in perfect balance. La Gloria is of the Anthony Bourdain philosophy, that food should be enjoyed to its fullest with friends and strangers alike.

CAFÉ PLAZA GRANDE

Located within the classically elegant Plaza Grande hotel, Café Plaza Grande is timelessly Andean, drawing influence from both Ecuador and Peru and bringing tradition into the contemporary kitchen. Dishes provide an exploration of the taste buds tracing centuries of culinary culture.

RESTAURANTE LA VID

Overlooking the historic heart of Quito's colonial town, La Vid is a wonderfully romantic restaurant ideal for those wishing to more tentatively sample Ecuadorian cuisine. Combining local and global flavors, La Vid pays tribute to its roots, but with open arms to embrace all palates.

PIM'S PANECILLO

Charmingly rustic yet unforgettably delicious, Pim's Panecillo presents regional and international dishes in a more relaxed yet wonderfully inviting setting. With panoramic views of the city, Pim's marries spices, seafood, sandwiches and scenery in a more casual dining venue.

CASA GANGOTENA

Inspired by Ecuador's rich and diverse ingredients, Casa Gangotena has developed a contemporary take on signature cuisine. Chefs continuously experiment with the flavors, textures, and ancestral cooking techniques that converge in Ecuador's gastronomy and culture.

MAMA CUCCHARA'S LA PLAZA

Another hotel-restaurant, La Plaza presents daily menus each incorporating dishes that represent the 24 provinces of Ecuador. Contemporary fine dining is infused with absolute authenticity, with provincial set menus reflecting national flavors across breakfast, lunch and dinner.
